

Back to Running the World...

One of the many e-Masons out there in Cyberspace that I read regularly has made a very interesting entry to his blog that has stirred some discussion, and I just wanted to highlight it.

We'll get back to running the world after we read the minutes from last meeting and pay the bills!

Take a look at the article and the commens following. It's a good read.